

Sun City Waterfalls

Charles Byers

At the corner of Sun City Blvd and Cool Springs on the edge of the golf course, the developer has built a couple of waterfalls joined by a waterway and spilling into a pond. Parking is rather problematical, but I have parked near the golf cart crossing on Cool Springs and not caused any heartburn. The positioning of the falls is well out of the way of the golfers. Do not cross the waterway onto the golf course side. You are not welcome or safe near the golf course.

The site is a good place to practice your moving water photography. The upper falls is out of the sight of the golfers and overall I think will make better pictures. Of course, you should bring your tripod. A real challenge is getting both falls in a single picture and doing it artistically.
